

Native Roads:

A Pictorial Guide to the Hopi and Navajo Nations

A presentation by Jim Turner

Fran Kosik worked for the Indian Health Service at Tuba City, Arizona and spent thirty years learning about the culture, geology, geography, history, and archaeology of the area where Arizona, Utah, Colorado, and New Mexico meet. Her book, Native Roads, A Motoring Guide to the Navajo and Hopi Nations, has been a top seller since 1995. In 2013, I took a ten-day trip around the Four Corners to update a third edition. This presentation contains many beautiful photographs of the areas covered in the original edition, as well as many new ones. After seeing this program, newcomers can hardly wait to go, and old timers relive fond memories and feel the call to return.
